

Highway CA-41 within and south of Yosemite

Highway 41 reaches the southern entrance of Yosemite National Park after traveling through the communities of Oakhurst and Fish Camp and near the resort community of Bass Lake. Lodging accommodations along Highway 41 south of the park and inside the park at Wawona are most convenient to Yosemite's Mariposa Grove of giant sequoias and to the Wawona area. Lodging at Yosemite West (just outside the park's western border) is most convenient to Glacier Point and the Yosemite Ski and Snowboard Area along the Glacier Point Road, and it is also close to Yosemite Valley through the Wawona Tunnel.

Some lodgings are closer to or farther from Yosemite than the distances shown for their communities. Accommodations in Wawona other than the Big Trees Lodge are on private property surrounded on all sides by Yosemite National Park. You can get specific information from the lodging providers or their Web sites.

Highway 120 west of Yosemite is a major travel route from the San Francisco Bay Area. Of the three all-year western/southern entrances to Yosemite, it is the highest in elevation. From Groveland or Foresta you have easy access to Hetch Hetchy, to the Crane Flat area's groves of giant sequoias, to the Tioga Road (summer only), and to Yosemite Valley.

Some lodgings are closer to or farther from Yosemite than the distances shown for their communities.

Accommodations in Foresta are on private property surrounded on all sides by Yosemite National Park. Accommodations with Groveland mailing addresses are located along several miles of Highway 120 on both sides of the center of town. You can get specific information from the lodging providers or their Web sites.

Lodging accommodations in the vicinity of Lee Vining, east of Yosemite, are convenient for summer and early fall visitors who wish to explore Tuolumne Meadows, Tioga Pass, and the nearby high country. From your lodgings, travel west on the Tioga Road (CA-120) over Tioga Pass. The Tioga Road is closed to vehicle traffic in winter: it generally closes at the first significant snowfall after October 31 and generally does not reopen until late May of the following year, or later after a heavy snow season. The Tioga Road can be used for cross-country (Nordic) ski and snowshoe access to the high country during the winter.

Some lodgings are closer to or farther from Yosemite than the distances shown for their communities. You can get specific information from the lodging providers or their Web sites.
